

Outside Speakers

The practice of inviting speakers from lay and professional groups to appear before classes or other College groups on selected occasions is encouraged as an enrichment feature of the College program. Such invitations must have prior approval of the responsible campus administrator and in those instances requiring district honorariums must be approved by the Board of Trustees.