Student Services Coordinator - Retention
Office of Retention Services

February 2000
College administration created a new position in charge of student retention efforts.

“The Office of Retention Services is primarily an administrative service unit which provides information, coordination, and support to activities identified and associated with student retention through a program of assessment, collaboration, and coordination with the entire campus community.”

A retention position can focus on retention issues across departmental lines and attempt to resolve them, involving the entire campus community.
Office of Retention Services

All Community Colleges face similar problems in the areas of student retention and persistence.

- Why don’t students persist, and who are they?
- Why don’t students succeed, and who are they?
- Why do students who can succeed decide to leave?
- Why don’t students use the services available?

B) Telephone Survey of Applicants Who Did Not Register

C) Mail Survey of Fall-to-Spring Non-Persisters
Retention Research

A) Profile of Persisters vs. Non-Persisters

GCC students who persist:

- have GPAs higher than the bottom 1/3
- attempt and complete more units
- were not on probation at the end of fall
- had an English or Math placement on record
- took any English, ESL, or Math class
A) Profile of Persisters vs. Non-Persisters

GCC students who persist:

- are continuing or new students (not returning)
- are more likely to be female
- are not undecided on their educational goal
- have a non-vocational educational goal
B) Telephone Survey of Applicants Who Did Not Register

“Why did you decide not to register for classes?”

- Telephone survey of students who filed applications but did not register for classes
- 169 students contacted

Student Responses to Mailed Survey (Qualitative)

• Thanks for caring
• Willingness to return to college
• Need for further research on scheduling issues
• Need for personal outreach program
Office of Retention Services

Personalized outreach and interventions for existing students:

• Orientation reminder calls
• Welcome and information calls to new students
• Outreach calls to students who have dropped all their units
• Outreach letters to non-returning, first-time probation students
Office of Retention Services

Plans for future outreach and intervention:

• Tuition reminder calls
• “Early Alert” follow-up calls
• “SEP” invitation calls
• Non-returning student surveys (ongoing)

- Involve the entire campus
- Retention information and activities
- Faculty and staff profiles
- Student testimonials
Office of Retention Services

There is not a lot of magic to this. If we do the following, we can help our students reach their educational goals:

- Coordinate our retention efforts
- Show students that we value them
- Track our results
